In Flander's Fields

*~ In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.*

*We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flander's fields.*

Remembrance Day is an important date for many as we remember those we lost who fought for our country.

We also need to remember the importance of preserving our environment. Collecting cell phones to be reused or recycled helps to prevent our landfills from overflowing with electronic waste which can be detrimental to our health and our surrounding wildlife.

Try asking local retailers if they will put your collection box out in their store for the month. Remember to go once a week to clear out the box so it doesn't overflow.

You can ask local newspapers if they have any free space to advertise where your collection boxes are. You can let the retail store know this as it is free advertising for their business. They are

*Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, tho poppies grow
In Flander's fields.~*
